

after on eagle's wings
and the men carrying you up the tile-laden aisle to place you in the back of a black
car under a black
sun and after the procession which ironically didn't stop at red lights and after you were put in the ground
beneath the worms
and maggots,
we returned
to our lives.